

PAINWeek National Conference Announces Deadline Extension for Poster Abstracts

Largest practitioner-attended pain conference extends deadline for submission of poster abstracts.

Montclair, NJ (PRWEB) June 24, 2011 -- The PAINWeek national conference today announced that due to the volume of participant interest the deadline for submission of abstracts for scientific poster presentations at the upcoming 2011 conference would be extended until July 31, 2011, 12:00 midnight EST.

The scientific session and poster presentations are an important component of PAINWeek and may be on research-oriented or evidence-based practice topics that are of relevance to frontline practitioners who treat patients with chronic pain.

A recent survey of conference registrants found that 60% do not attend any other pain conferences besides PAINWeek. This makes PAINWeek an excellent forum to share the latest information from current research and clinical findings. More information about PAINWeek and the poster abstract submission process may be found at www.painweek.org.

About PAINWeek

PAINWeek is the nation's largest pain conference for frontline practitioners with an interest in pain management. Convening for its 5th year from September 7-10 at The Cosmopolitan of Las Vegas, PAINWeek will welcome over 1,500 physicians, nurses, pharmacists, and other healthcare professionals for a comprehensive program of course offerings, satellite events, and exhibits. Over 100 hours of continuing medical education activities will be presented.
